I have a hunch that there may be something wrong with the.exe file A: The error is clear. It's missing the 32bit Microsoft Access Database Engine(mdw). You will need to download this file from Microsoft. It's a.zip file. Once you extract the.zip file, you will have a file called AccessDatabaseEngine.exe. Here's the link to download this file. Q: How to get the first index of a vector when working with arrays? I have a question about vectors and arrays in C++. I don't really understand the difference between them and how they work. I have a vector of floating points: vector v; And a normal array of integers: float* array = new float[10]; I have filled my vectors with random numbers and inserted some elements: for(int i = 0; i
