Numeric has no objects with state of "warning" and "failure" Therefore a description will not be found. When it goes to search for a description it will match to any other part of the code with or without "warning" and "failure" which is why no description is being shown. An example of when description will be shown Adding description along with following way: description() for object in Numeric: if object.State == "ok": description = "State: OK" else: description = "State: Failure" A: You're looking in the wrong place. It's not in the object itself, but in the project data. Basically, whatever is in the description field is the information you're looking for. To see this in action, you can check this QA. Use to check Alexa rankings. This QA is not only showing the page title, but also showing the description, keywords and ranking. You can also use Selenium webdriver. With Selenium, you can ask a page to "tell me what it's about". Here's an example with the Alexa data: from selenium import webdriver from selenium.webdriver.common.by import By from selenium.webdriver.support import expected_conditions as EC from selenium.webdriver.common.keys import Keys # This is the URI for the site you're interested in. url = "" driver = webdriver.Chrome("/path/to/chromedriver") driver.get(url) # Wait for the site to be ready. time.sleep(1) # Use this line to keep the test from timing out. # The normal way to keep the test from timing out is to add a callback # to be executed when the test is finished. driver.implicitly_wait(3) # This is the first element that Selenium reports as a "title". title = driver.find_element_by_xpath("//h1[@class='page-title']") print(title).
