Proxy Finder is a tool to help you find a proxy server quickly and easily.Proxy Finder works with almost all programs for web surfing. If you use Internet Explorer, Firefox, Chrome, Opera or Safari, you'll probably find that Proxy Finder can be a lot easier to use than manually entering the proxy server address every time you want to get online. Proxy Finder has its own built-in search engine, so you can search for a proxy server, a certain proxy server address, a proxy server address range, proxy servers of a certain protocol (HTTP, FTP,...) and much more. Proxy Finder can be used as a proxy search utility. If you want to use a proxy server address manually, you can open the Proxy Finder settings and enter the proxy server address for the URL bar. Proxy Finder will automatically download the latest available version of the proxy server list. Proxy Finder can be started directly from the command line or in a batch file with the JAVA_HOME environment variable set. Proxy Finder works also as a Java Webstart application. Some proxy servers require you to configure a user account on your computer. Proxy Finder remembers your proxy server settings and doesn't need to be run after each computer startup. Proxy Finder runs under Windows, Mac OS X and Linux. You can save your proxy server settings to the registry so they won't be lost. Proxy Finder can be used as a Java applet. Please remember to send us your comments and ideas!
